A Heartbreaking Story of Survival, Compassion, and Redemption

China Hans is the unforgettable story of Arnold Aleck, a Jewish refugee from Nazi Germany who found his way to China, became a doctor, and risked his life to save others during the Holocaust.

Aleck was born in Berlin in 1919. His father was a wealthy Jewish businessman, and his mother was a devout Christian. When the Nazis came to power in 1933, the Aleck family fled to Shanghai, where they lived in a Jewish ghetto.

In Shanghai, Aleck attended the prestigious St. John's University, where he studied medicine. He graduated in 1941, and began working as a doctor in the Jewish ghetto.

In 1943, the Nazis invaded Shanghai. Aleck and his family were forced into a concentration camp, where they were subjected to torture and starvation. But Aleck never gave up hope. He continued to care for his fellow prisoners, and he risked his life to smuggle medicine into the camp.

In 1945, the war ended and the Aleck family was able to leave Shanghai. They went to the United States, where Aleck continued his medical career. He became a successful doctor and a respected member of the community.

But Aleck never forgot the horrors of the Holocaust. He spent the rest of his life speaking out against racism and intolerance. He also became a strong advocate for peace and reconciliation.

In 1999, Aleck published his autobiography, China Hans. The book was a critical and commercial success, and it has been translated into several languages.

China Hans is a heartbreaking story of survival, compassion, and redemption. It is a testament to the human spirit, and it is a reminder of the importance of fighting against racism and intolerance.
