Chapter 1: Ancient Battles

The first chapter of Who Would Win? Ultimate Showdown covers ancient battles, from the Battle of Marathon to the Battle of Cannae. These battles were fought with swords, spears, and arrows, and they were often decided by the courage and discipline of the soldiers involved.

One of the most famous ancient battles is the Battle of Thermopylae, which was fought in 480 BC between the Persians and the Greeks. The Persians had a massive army, but the Greeks were able to hold them off for three days at the narrow pass of Thermopylae. The Greeks were eventually defeated, but their heroic stand inspired the rest of Greece to fight on and eventually defeat the Persians.

Another famous ancient battle is the Battle of Cannae, which was fought in 216 BC between the Romans and the Carthaginians. The Carthaginians were led by Hannibal, one of the greatest military commanders in history. Hannibal used a brilliant strategy to trap the Roman army in a double envelopment, and the Romans were slaughtered. The Battle of Cannae was one of the worst defeats in Roman history.

The ancient battles covered in this chapter are just a few of the many that have shaped the course of history. These battles were fought with courage, strategy, and determination, and they continue to inspire us today.
